

YOUR LEASE, CLEARER NEXT STEPS.

CAM / NNN language review | Prepared 2026-10-05

2 review topics found

A lease clause is a starting point. Whether a charge was overbilled requires the landlord's statements, calculations, and supporting records.

What this report can tell you

The items below identify lease language for review. Page references point to text extracted from the uploaded PDF; confirm each clause on the original page and read related definitions and amendments.

Verified overcharge: not determined. No landlord invoices, reconciliations, or actual allocations were analyzed with this lease.

Your review path

01 Confirm the clause

Read the full provision, definitions, exclusions, amendments, and any review deadlines.

02 Get the billing backup

Request the annual reconciliation, category detail, invoices, and allocation math.

03 Calculate a variance

Compare the charge billed with the amount permitted by the lease and supporting records.

Lease topics to investigate

01 Capital costs in operating expenses

A lease may allow some capital work, but recovery can depend on exclusions, useful life, or amortization.

PAGE 3 / TERM MENTION: "...ulting fees Repairs, replacements, and capital improvements Costs associated with compliance with laws and regulations Utilities serving the Property Securi..."

CHECK Compare each capital charge with the lease's permitted categories and any amortization terms.

REQUEST Capital project ledger, invoices, amortization schedule, and allocation calculation.

02 Management and administrative fees

The fee base and percentage can change the amount billed, especially if a fee is applied to excluded costs.

PAGE 3 / TERM MENTION: "...mon Area Maintenance expenses Property management fees Administrative expenses Legal, accounting, and consulting fees Repairs, replacements, and capit..."

CHECK Compare the agreed rate and calculation base with the rate and base on the annual statement.

REQUEST Fee calculation, expense base detail, and annual reconciliation.

Records to collect

- + Executed lease, exhibits, and amendments
- + Annual CAM / NNN statements and prior-year reconciliations
- + General ledger or category detail, invoices, and capital schedules
- + Rentable-area and tenant-share allocation schedules
- + Delivery dates and notices relevant to review or dispute rights

Billing reconciliation worksheet

Use one row per charge category and year. A positive difference is only a question to investigate until the lease basis and records are confirmed.

CATEGORY / YEAR	AMOUNT BILLED	LEASE BASIS	DIFFERENCE
Capital costs in operating expenses
Management and administrative fees

What remains unverified

- Tenant name was not reliably extracted.
- Landlord name was not reliably extracted.
- Premises address was not reliably extracted.
- Actual charges, allocation calculations, and recoverable amounts require billing records.

Scope and support

This is an automated lease-text screening, not a completed billing reconciliation or legal opinion. A term mention may be only an expense-list entry, not an operative clause. OCR can omit or misread text. Check the complete original page and any amendments before drawing a conclusion.
